

The A. F. of L. Weekly News Letter contains a brief summary of important matters affecting labor, according to the usual policy of the publication. It is published weekly, and contains news, editorial, and judicial, and such other information that will benefit the trade union movement.

FREEDOM IS FIRST DEMAND IN LABOR'S PROGRAM:

No other group of citizens discuss and pass judgment on such a variety of subjects of interest to the people as do the organized workers.

Declaration by the Denver A. F. of L. convention, just adjourned, is in line with the usual policy of the publication. It is published weekly, and contains news, editorial, and judicial, and such other information that will benefit the trade union movement.

These critics take themselves quite seriously. They talk of "serving the public." They take themselves with educators, physicians, engineers, inventors and other scientists who give their lives to their fellow men without hope of plaudits or reward.

They cannot understand when labor talks of liberty. "What does labor want?" they inquire, and then they thunder against industrial autocracy, labor injunctions, judicial usurpation and legislative encroachment.

To these critics, democracy is a gesture, a pose; a thing for crowding and vote-catching.

The right to organize, to have a voice in working conditions and be represented by persons of their own choosing, is of first importance to the workers.

If labor's only gain was the voice in industry it now possesses it can present a constructive program incomparable in history.

No other movement, no other program, raised the workers from the status of serfs. Through their efforts they have fought upward, established new standards and new relations with dragging with the very men who talk of "constructive programs."

Labor's voice in production and distribution must be universally accepted.

It is labor's foundation and it cannot be kept aside while the cause for its existence remains.

Fundamentally, labor has presented no new program during the long existence of the A. F. of L.

It demands no radical changes with a developed public opinion, but, labor places industrial freedom through organization of the workers in the front rank.

This is its major note today, as it was in 1861.

It is in response to the demands of the public, it is in response to the sensibilities and public seckers who thru the crudery of court against entrenched wrong.

The organized workers know there is no royal road to freedom. They will through unity and mental development will the workers win. If they will not help themselves, no one else will.

Agitate! Educate! Organize!

WHAT CO-OPERATION MEANS

Washington, July 2.—The term "co-operation" is derived from two Latin words—"co," meaning "together," and "operari," meaning "to work." The co-operative movement is a social movement which aims at the organization of the workers into co-operative societies, in which the workers own and manage the means of production and distribution, and share the profits and losses of the enterprise.
